THE Jewish Chronicle tells this story of some of its coreligionists: Professor Bilroth, the famous Viennese surgeon, some time ago received a letter from a certain Jew in a small Russian town to come immediately and perform an operation. The Professor in his answer stipulated for five thousand marks, which was promised him. The Professor then repaired to the Russian town, and upon his arrival he was received by a number of Jews, who sorrowfully informed him that the gentleman that was to be operated upon had died, and had been buried already. And seeing that the Professor felt perplexed and regretted the journey which he had made in vain, the Jews comforted him, saying: "There is yet some chance for you to make some money here. There are several sick men in our hospital who would require your services, for which each of them would willingly pay you one thousand marks." The Professor gladly accepted the offer, and, after having performed about five operations, the stipulated amount was handed to him. But a few minutes before starting for home the Professor learned that he had resurrected the dead man. That worthy gentleman had been among the hospital patients cured for one thousand marks.

THE general usefulness of woman was never discovered until necessity compelled her to determine and demonstrate it for herself. The latest manifestation of her varied capabilities, says the Court Journal, is in the line of so-called party lady-helper, which offers considerable scope to her ingenuity. This useful personage will, for a stated amount, relieve weary hostesses of the task of catering for and entertaining a host of lively girls and boys and their juvenile friends home for the holidays. She must be able to superintend the cooking of seasonable dainties, the decoration of rooms, tables, and Christmas trees, the preparation of private theatricals and tableaux, and the fashioning of juvenile party costumes.

A BURIED treasure is being sought in northwest Bengal. A poor Brahmin at Monghyr possessed an amulet which had been in his family for generations, and as he was almost starving he took it to a goldsmith for sale. The goldsmith broke it up to test the metal and found in the hollow center a scrap of paper covered with minute writing. This being deciphered by a learned pundit, the Brahmin learned that close by the shrine of Pir Shah Nepal is a well dating back to Mohammedan times, and at a certain distance from the well are hidden fourteen lakhs of rupees. The Brahmin has obtained government sanction to excavate the ground, a rich neighbor furnishing the funds on condition of receiving a share of the treasure.

A MINER in Rhondda named David Davis is just now an interesting subject for medical doctors and doctors of divinity. He was a victim of the terrible explosion of Pen-y-Craig in 1880. He was bed-ridden for four years, recovered sufficiently to be able to go about, but was completely deaf and dumb. His doctor hit upon a novel plan to restore his hearing. He was placed by the side of a big gun during target practice. After the sixth shot his hearing came suddenly back to him, but he remained dumb. The other day one of his companions said something to him that put him in a towering passion, and his speech returned in a flood of profanity.

IF one would see and smell and taste the baked bean at its best, he should go to the lumbering camps in the woods of Maine. The thousands of brawny axe swingers who work all winter in the spruce forests subsist almost entirely upon pork and beans, and they never suffer from dyspepsia or indigestion, because the cooking is perfect. The woodsman's beans are baked in a big iron pot in a hole in the ground. The pot is set upon a bed of live coals, surrounded and covered with more coals, and then the hole is filled in with earth, as though the savory mess were to remain buried for good and all. The camp cook knows when to dig the pot out, however, and when he does he brings forth baked beans such as the town of Boston never dreamed of.

The discovery of an ocean current coming from the unexplored region beyond Spitzbergen is the subject of a communication to be considered by the Bremen Geographical Society. Recently one of the agents of the bureau of ethnology discovered in a mound of London County, Tenn., a small stone with letters of the Cherokee alphabet engraved upon it. The puzzling features is that it was discovered at the bottom with one of the nine skeletons found there, and that the mound has not been disturbed within the present century. It is known by the citizens that sixty years ago it was covered with trees and grape vines and has not been disturbed since then until explored by the bureau agent, while, according to history, Guess did not invent the Cherokee alphabet before 1821.

Shepherds on a Mediterranean Steamer

The whole deck of the steamer was occupied by people of every grade and most varied costume. Just beneath the bridge were crowded together a quantity of sheep, with long, merino-like hair; and looking after them was a shepherd or two in white petticoats and great hooded goatskin coat.

Other Greeks were seated about, wearing handkerchiefs upon their heads, and vests and sashes of rival colors. One in white shirt-sleeves and spotless petticoats wore a bright cardinal red sash, a vest that was dark gray in front, with blue pattern velvet, and the shoulder-straps bound with yellow braiding. Another vest was of crimson velvet embroidered with yellow braiding.

The women lay back on their seats, their faces swathed in their colored head-dresses, and many with the lower part of their face covered. One sailor perched upon the bulwarks formed a picturesque figure, with dark red half-fez, half-Scotch cap, a dark blue shirt, bound round the waist with a sea-green scarf, and bluish trousers.

The shepherd had gone to sleep after attending to his sheep, and now lay back against some boxes, his great goatskin coat wrapped round him and the peaked hood brought over his face. A dark-colored vest came between this and the ample folds of his petticoats, and around his waist was a dark red leather belt of numerous pockets; one great knife he held in his hand while he slept, ready for any emergency; his lower limbs were bound round with semi-white tight gaiters, and his feet were shod with the once bright red leather shoes and colored rosettes, now much faded.

A Lucky Gem Hunter.

A Ceylon paper gives an account of the finding of the largest cat's eye gem of which there is any record by a digger at Galle, Ceylon. It weighs nearly seven pounds. The finder had been very poor. A few months ago, however, his digging for gems was rewarded by finding a cat's eye which he sold for $5000. Soon after he dug up another, for which he realized $10,000, and then his run of luck reached a climax when he unearthed his large stone, which is described as of perfect luster. He had been offered $95,000 by a syndicate of local dealers, but he has refused, as he declares he can cut the gem into forty stones, each of which will bring $5000. A short time ago he also found a larger cat's eye than his big one, but the ray was imperfect, so that it is not more than one-quarter as valuable. His total findings in one-half year, at the lowest estimate, will reach $150,000.

Prepare for Spring
Now is the time to attend to your personal condition in preparation for the change to spring season. If you have not "wintered well," if you are tired out from overwork, if your blood has become impure from close confinement in badly ventilated offices or shops, you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla at once. It will purify and vitalize your blood, create a good appetite, and give your whole system tone and strength.
"For a first-class spring medicine my wife and I think very highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla. We both took it last spring. It did us a great deal of good and we felt better through the hot weather than ever before. It cured my wife of sick headache, from which she has suffered a great deal, and relieved me of a dizzy, tired feeling. I think every one ought to take something to purify the blood before the hot weather comes on, and we shall certainly take Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring."—J. H. PEARCE, Supt. Granite Ry. After Dangers of the "Grip."
[From The Sunday Globe, Boston, Mass. Jan. 5, 1890.]
"Boston papers facetiously remark that 'La Grippe is seldom fatal unless you use all the remedies recommended for it.' They are correct. The writer fully believes that the end of the poor 'grip' victim, if he tried all the patent medicines that have adorned (?) the pages of our leading newspapers as 'sure cures for La Grippe,' would be like Mark Twain, who for his famous cold tried every remedy advised by friends, until his stomach became so weak he began to vomit, and continued until, as he avers, 'he was like to throw up his immortal soul.' We notice one of the leading advertisers of the day has been conspicuous at this opportune time by the absence of any claim to cure the 'grip.' They certainly deserve a 'chromo,' and we feel like giving them a free 'ad' for their compassion upon our readers. The more so for the reason that probably more people have used their remedy, that good old family medicine, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, for this foreign influenza, than all others combined. And why not? Certainly no other will relieve catarrhal colds, coughs, bronchial troubles, or neuralgic pains, as promptly as that same old Anodyne Liniment, and the above are all symptoms or results of La Grippe. Herein lies the real after dangers from this epidemic of influenza; it leaves the mucous membrane linings of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes tender and very susceptible to the catarrh, bronchial troubles and pneumonia, which come with February and March in our northern climate. We shall still pin our faith to a remedy (for this after trouble) which acts promptly to allay inflammation; for therein lies the chief danger from throat and lung troubles. And surely a remedy that has the friends that Johnson's Anodyne Liniment has, after eighty years' trial by a critical public, and has been used for the 'grip' more extensively than all the advertised remedies, deserves, as we said, a medal, and has before it we hope a prosperous year as an octogenarian."

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT WAS ORIGINATED BY AN OLD FAMILY PHYSICIAN, IN 1810.—All who buy direct from us, and request it, shall receive a certificate that the money shall be refunded if not satisfied. Retail price, sent by mail, post-paid, 35 cents. Six bottles, $2, express pre-paid to any part of the United States; duty also paid to Canada. If your nearest druggist or general storekeeper does not keep Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, urge him to get it for you. If he will not, send to us. Do not fail to send for our pamphlet.—I. S. JEWELS AND LACES.
"Oh, girl with the jewelled fingers,
Oh, maid with the laces rare!"

What are your jewels and what are your laces worth to you if, from undergoing the trying ordeals which fashionable society imposes on its devotees, and which are enough to test the physical strength and endurance of the most robust, you break down, lose your health and become a physical wreck, as thousands do from such causes?
Under such circumstances you would willingly give all your jewels and all your laces to regain lost health. This you can do if you will but resort to the use of that great restorative known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Thousands of grateful women bless the day it was made known to them.
For all those derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to women, it is the only remedy, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper and faithfully carried out for many years.
As an invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.
As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, and other distressing, nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.
